Coming Events. Society has been in a which during the past seven days, a whirl of denners, dances, tess and luncheons. The members of the gay world seemed bent on crowding into the few days remaining before Lent all the galety possible. And now society is reflecting on the joys of the past season and making preparathe past season and making prepara-tions for the season of sackcloth and ashes. The coming week will bring Ash Wednesday, when fashion decrees that all festivities shall cease for a period of forty days, and it is certain that the inertia required of society during Lent will be fully observed, as there is noth-ing more enjoyable to gay, thoughtless society than a change. But until the season of penance there will be suf-ficient entertaining to please all.

Alta Club Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lowe Nye were the guests of honor at a supper and card party given Friday evening by Miss Lowe. An elaborate coarse supper was served at 7 o'clock. The table year beautifully decorated. In the center stood a sliver candelabra twined with smilax, the festoons surrounding the mirror which supported the candelabra. At either end stood large vases of La France roses and ferns. The place cards were pen and ink sketches of Gibson figures.

Following supper "sixty-three" was played at four tables arranged in the drawing room. A unique feature being the surprise packages given by Mrs. George H. Wood and Mrs. C. L. Knight on Tuesday and Thursday were most unique and original. There were nine tables on each occasion, each one representing a national holiday, the character of which was indicated by the tally and score eards. The head table was New Year's day, and the foot table thristmas, other holidays, such as Fourth of July. Thanksgiving. Washington's birthday and Valentine day, were all recressited in most artistic fashion. The house presented a beautiful picture, with its decorations of smilax, carnations and American beauty reses in profusion, added to which were strings of red hearts, varying in size and strung through archways and over Mr. and Mrs. George Lowe Nye were

Salt Lake Woman's Club.

Mrs. H. B. Windsor made the topic "Division of Time for Wives and Mothers" unusually interesting to the members of the Woman's club. While Mrs. Windsor did not feel constrained to divide the time of another whose duties and obligations in life can be to divide the time of another whose duties and obligations in life can be known only to that other, yet, through a series of striking and apt illustrations, she described a wise and judicious use of time for women whose duties in life were quite different, being made so by a difference in financial circumstances, social position and by a difference of choice in the manner of spending one's life. The talk was made especially helpful by the spirit that pervaded it, a spirit that impressed one with the belief that the modern woman takes a deep interest in all knowledge which enables her to become a more useful member of society, and particularly in all that touches the nearer relations of life-home, husband, children and friends—she is reaching out in every direction to bring to her service the new intelligence which is now occupying a large space in current thought and literature. The relation between a mother and her children, for instance, is being studied The relation between a mother and her children, for instance, is being studied systematically and thoroughly, so that a mother is no longer made such by physical laws alone, but by a cultivated mother mind and heart as well.
